

TRANQUILITY IN PORTUGAL

Cities Surrender to Revolutionists Without Bloodshed

CIVIL WAR RESULT?

Whereabouts of Deposed President Unknown—Many Killed and Wounded in Bombardment

Lisbon, May 17.—After two days of anarchy and fiercest rioting Portugal is nearly normal today.

Dispatches reaching here said that the garrison in Santarem and several other cities surrendered to the revolutionary forces at midnight.

Madrid, May 17.—Complete anarchy reigned in Lisbon according to news reaching Madrid last night. Fighting in the streets continues between the mutineers and the loyal troops. The bombardment was stopped last night owing to a lack of ammunition. The number of persons killed or wounded is said to have been considerable. Many buildings were burned and the homes of known loyalists pillaged.

Premier Dato announced that the Spanish battleship Espana would arrive at Lisbon today to protect the Spaniards and other foreigners. He added that probably another warship would be dispatched to Portuguese waters.

Dispatches from Vigo announced that Portuguese people arriving there declare that the uprising is the beginning of civil war in Portugal. Reports from Oporto say the revolutionists in that city have been placed in jail, and that the civil authorities have given over the reins of government to the military.

Special dispatches assert that the uprising is not a monarchical movement, but one organized in protest by the party of Dr. Alfonso Costa, former Premier, against recent government measures.

It is declared that, although mutinies occurred among the crews of several of the Portuguese warships, the army is absolutely loyal.

HEAVY BURDENS ON HOLLAND

Popular Dissatisfaction Is Growing Steadily as Food Prices Advance

The Hague Netherlands, May 17.—Popular dissatisfaction with the heavy burdens the war has imposed on neutral Holland is growing steadily.

Recently several meetings of workmen and women and unemployed have protested against the high cost of living. One of these, held in the Hague, was preceded by a parade of the unemployed singing "The International" and distributing hand bills calling on all Hollanders to stand with the demonstrators in their fight against hunger.

The meeting was held under the auspices of a committee of agitation against the war, consisting of representatives of The Hague trade council and allied bodies, the Social Democratic party, the Star Garment Workers' Union, The Hague branch of the National Municipal Workers and The Hague branch of the Industrial Workers of the World and the General Trade Union Council.

There is no doubt the presence of thousands of unemployed Belgian refugees in the Netherlands has produced an acute industrial situation. As many of these refugees are ardent Socialists, the situation is not devoid of possible political aspects.

COULD HIT KAISER HARD

United States Might Seize Large Fleet in Case of War

Washington May 17.—German and Austrian ships with an aggregate tonnage of 350,000 tons and valued at more than $50,000,000, a passenger carrying capacity of 50,000 persons and with crews numbering 10,000 men are either interned in American waters or else in American ports by circumstances of war abroad.

The presence of so many vessels in the jurisdiction of the United States will undoubtedly have an important bearing upon the negotiations between the United States and Germany over the destruction of the Lusitania.

Should events lead to war with Germany, these rich prizes would immediately fall into the hands of this Government, if not by confiscation at their docks, certainly by capture upon the high seas. Not one of them could hope to escape, and not one of them could hope to give battle to the vessels of the American Navy.

With these facts before him, the Kaiser will unquestionably be reminded that the United States may, after all, do serious damage to the German Empire, though this country has no army for invading purposes and no navy that could penetrate the German mine fields.

The question has been raised, since strained relations between the United States and Germany developed whether the United States has a right under its commercial treaties, to confiscate its German merchant vessels now tied up at American docks. This is, of course, a matter for Administration to settle, should war eventually, but there seems no doubt that the German ships, after being ordered to sea and given a technical opportunity to escape, could be captured as prizes of war by American naval vessels.

No such formality would have to be followed in the case of the five German warships now officially interned in American ports. They would be subject to capture the minute war was declared, and in their present helpless condition they could offer no resistance. Their engines have been disabled and the breeches of their guns removed, rendering them useless for all practical purposes.

BORDER CLASH

Italians and Austrians Exchange Shots From Rifles

Rome, May 17.—A border clash between Italians and Austrian troops is reported from Sogna. A company of Austrian soldiers crossed the frontier and were engaged by Italian troops, who were rushed to the scene. After an exchange of rifle fire, the Italians charged and drove the Austrians back.

Berne, May 17.—Every Italian soldier has received two blankets and three pairs of nailed boots and stockings and woolen gloves.

The troops of the third category have left Milan for an unknown destination, and evacuation began.

Property owners who were obliged to leave property received government receipts for it. By evening the whole district from Lake Garda to and including Trent was evacuated.

New and heavy artillery has been brought up.

Germans are still leaving Italy and arriving in great numbers in Switzerland.

London, May 17.—Should Italy enter the war, as now expected, the allies will be in a better position than ever to launch their big offensive movement against Austria and Germany, which is being preceded on the western front by a series of attacks, furnished a foretaste of what is to come. There are office reports that the English have pierced the German lines after terrific fighting at Festubert, the break being more than 2 miles long. All the counter attacks by the Germans have failed with great losses. In one small portion of the battlefield, reports say that 1,800 German dead have been counted. Around Hill No. 60 the ground is said to be littered covered with dead.

CARD OF THANKS.

Miss Emerita Wagnock wishes to express her most sincere thanks to those who worked so faithfully to help her win the Firemen's Popularity Contest.

EXCITEMENT IN ITALY'S CAPITAL

Rumors of War With Austria Circulated Throughout Rome

CABINET SUMMONED

Rome, May 17.—Rome is tense with excitement today.

An unconfirmed rumor said that an Austrian battalion has crossed the Italian frontier. The war office had no confirmation of the report.

Later dispatches say that the band of Austrian raiders who crossed the Italian frontier were repulsed by a bayonet charge by Italian patrols.

Until an early hour today a crowd estimated at 100,000 surged about the Royal Palace, the war and foreign offices and the residence of Premier Salandra cheering wildly for war.

The official announcement that King Victor Emmanuel has refused to accept the resignation of the Salandra cabinet was everywhere interpreted to mean that the King has sanctioned the war program.

General Cadorna, chief of staff and leader of the war party, is in conference with the King again today. There are rumors of important troop movements toward the Austrian frontier. Regarding these the war office remained silent.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED

Twenty Seven Machines Fighting in Aerial Fleet

London, May 17.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Rotterdam sends an account of an engagement between a Zeppelin and a squadron of allied aeroplanes in Belgium, in which the Zeppelin and two of the allied aeroplanes were destroyed.

Two Zeppelins crossed over Brussels traveling westward on May 10. One of them returned alone at 8 o'clock that evening and was surrounded and attacked by the aeroplane squadron. Many persons counted twenty seven machines in the allied fleet.

The Zeppelin made a spirited fight with its machine guns and tried to escape by soaring but the aeroplanes maneuvered skillfully and quickly and gave the dirigible no chance to get away.

The Zeppelin was disabled in less than fifteen minutes and it fell between Brussels and Ghent. Several explosions accompanied its fall and all the crew of sixty are believed to have been killed.

Two of the aeroplanes were destroyed and their pilots killed by the Zeppelin's fire. Thousands watched the battle.

KILLS SELF AND WIFE

New Jersey Farmer Also Shoots Both of His Wife's Parents

Jacobstown, N. J. May 17.—Edward Applegate, 24 years old, of Wheat Sheaf, Pa., killed his wife, 22; probably fatally wounded his father-in-law, Edwin De Bou; wounded his mother-in-law and then ended his own life yesterday on the De Bou farm. The young couple had been married for three years. A few days ago they quarreled and Mrs. Applegate returned to her parents' home.

Applegate visited her there yesterday and when she refused to return home with him he killed her with one shot from a revolver. He then turned the weapon on De Bou, one bullet striking him in the head and another in the neck. Mrs. De Bou was the next victim, but her wound is not considered dangerous. After attempting to shoot his sister-in-law Applegate killed himself.

THE GOEBEN HIT AGAIN

Former German Cruiser in Fight With Russian Warships

"The Goeben, which fired 200 shells at the Russian fleet while it was bombarding the Bosphorus without scoring a single hit, was herself obliged to return to the Golden Horn with a hole in her hull, stopped up with collision mats.

"A portion of her main deck was torn away and a funnel was damaged. Many of her crew were killed or wounded."

The warship referred to in the foregoing is the Turkish cruiser Sultan Selim, formerly the German cruiser Goeben. She was turned over to the Turkish, with the German cruiser Breslau, last fall. The Sultan Selim has been engaged in several battles with the Russian fleet and on half a dozen occasions was reported to have been damaged by shells or mines.

CRUSHED BY AUTO.

Young Man Said to Have Been Victim of a Joy Ride.

Wilmington, Del. May 17.—Edward Scott, aged 21, stableman on the country estate of Henry B. Thompson at Greenville, died yesterday as the result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon when an automobile he was driving turned over and rolled into Red Clay Creek below Ashland. Charles Peoples, aged 26, gardener on the Thompson estate, who was with Scott, is at his home suffering with serious injuries to the chest and head.

The young men are said to have taken their employer's automobile in the absence of the family. They were speeding down the hill below Ashland and when they failed to slow up at the turn near the bridge spanning the creek the machine upset. They managed to extricate themselves from the wreckage and crawl to the shore of the creek, where Edward Clark, of Wilmington, who was passing in another automobile, found them and brought them to their homes. Scott had several broken ribs which punctured the lungs and he died yesterday morning.

John Keegan and William Weeks, of Marcus Hook, had a narrow escape from death Saturday night when Keegan's automobile crashed into the concrete abutment of a bridge along the Paulk road. The automobile was demolished and the bridge was damaged, but the two occupants of the machine were thrown clear and sustained no serious injuries.

UNSEASONABLE MAY DAY.

The northeast wind of Saturday night brought a cold rain, and conditions yesterday caused many to regret that they had discarded thick underwear during the warm days of last month. A heavy cloud passed to the southwest of Alexandria between nine and ten o'clock yesterday morning from which lightning darted and thunder rolled. There was but little rain, however, in this city. The wind held to the northeast and the heavens occasionally became threatening. At the close of the day the air was more chilly and overcoats and wraps were again in evidence.

In some places in Pennsylvania snow fell and ice formed. According to the Baltimore Sun, there was killing frost in that section of the country May 12, 1914.

The weather today has been cloudy and cool, but warmer conditions are said to be in sight.

She was taken to the City Hospital, where it is said she will live. The bolt came down the chimney threw all the lids off the stove and upset the chairs in the kitchen in which Mrs. Rosell was working.

CLOUDS OF WAR WILL SOON BREAK

Frontiers of Italy and Austria to Be Another Storm Centre

KAISER ON THE WATCH

Belief Expressed That Italy's Course Will Have Much to Do With Germany's Reply to U. S.

Washington May 17.—Dispatches from Rome this morning saying Italian troops and Austrians have clashed were read here today with avidity.

The many signs that the clouds of war will soon break in earnest on the frontiers of Italy and Austria are looked upon as having a most intimate bearing on the relations between Washington and Berlin.

Feeling here, as the week opens, with Italy threatening more than ever to range herself with the allies, is that the Kaiser and his advisers will not rush rashly and defiantly into trouble with the United States.

On the whole, the optimistic view of the solution of the issues raised between this nation and Germany remains as pronounced as it was in the closing days of last week.

A brief cable message was received at the State Department this morning from Ambassador Gerard saying the American note to Berlin had been presented to the German foreign office at 10:30 Saturday morning.

The dispatch gave no intimation either of the time of the German reply or its nature.

TRANSYLVANIA ARRIVES

Liner Passes Safely Through War Zone to Scotland

New York, May 17.—The Anchor Line steamer Transylvania passed safely through the war zone about the British Isles and arrived at Greenock, Scotland, at 3 o'clock this morning. London time, it was announced by officials of the Cunard Line, to which the Transylvania was under charter.

In maritime circles here it was generally believed that the Transylvania had taken the course around the north of Ireland rather than pass through the southern lane in which the Lusitania was torpedoed. Official information on this point, however, was not obtained, owing to the strict secrecy imposed by the British admiralty on all orders issued to the steamship companies.

The mortician, William Barker, was arrested.

THE PRESIDENT IN NEW YORK

EXECUTIVE GUARDED

Nearly Seven Hundred Detectives Mingled in Crowds Which Welcomed Wilson to Metropolis

Rain, chill and drizzling, with leaden skies, tossed a soggy pall over the opening festivities attending the President's first review of the United States sea fighters.

The President and his party were quartered on the Presidential yacht Mayflower, which arrived here at 11:15 last night and anchored off Forty first street in the Hudson.

The "floating government," including Secretaries Daniels, Lane, Redfield, and Wilson, with the President's party, was greeted by an enormous crowd when the President left the Mayflower at 9:30 to go to the reviewing stand on Fifth avenue for the land parade.

Elaborate precautions were taken for the President's safety. The entire force of available detectives, nearly 700 in all, was assigned to work solely in protecting the President. They were scattered through the crowds at the wharves and parade route. Secret Service Chief Flynn and Police Inspector Faurot had charge of the small army acting as the Presidential bodyguard.

Screeching whistles and cheering crowds welcomed the President to New York as he stepped ashore and was whisked in an automobile to the reviewing stand, opposite the public library.

For the day the President swept aside the cares of state, poignant because of the present crisis with Germany.

Before leaving the Mayflower, the President received a few brief dispatches forwarded from the White House. One was from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

This afternoon the President will review the fleet as it lies at anchor. He planned to go directly from the civic luncheon to the Mayflower and hoist the blue Presidential pennant at 3:30.

GERMAN FOOD PRICES UP.

Even Commonest Vegetables 100 to 200 Per Cent Higher.

The gardening season has been marked by unusual scenes in the outskirts of Berlin. Everywhere on unoccupied lots people have spaded up the earth. The lots have been divided up into smaller parcels, and the latter turned over free to families willing to cultivate them.

Berlin and several of the adjacent municipalities have helped by making appropriations of money and Berlin has also contributed some 15,000 loads of manure from the city stock yards. Thus Greater Berlin hopes to contribute considerably toward solving its own food problem, and what is going on at Berlin is being repeated in every town of Germany. In this way it is expected that the potato crop of 1915 will be the largest ever grown in Germany, and that the supply of other vegetables will also be greatly increased.

At present all food products continue to advance in price. Even the commonest vegetables are from two to threefold higher than they were before the war began. Coffee and tea, though they cannot now be imported into Germany at all, have risen considerably less than vegetables. Among meats, pork, the staple meat of the working classes, has risen most markedly.

FUGITIVES MAKE ESCAPE STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

On Saturday afternoon word was received at the station house in this city that two prisoners had made their escape from the Occoquan work house and were making their way toward Alexandria in an automobile which they had stolen from the premises. Chief Goods and Officers Rawlett and Reed hurried to the intersection of Franklin and Patrick streets for the purpose of intercepting the fugitives. Almost as soon as they reached that point an automobile proceeding at a high rate of speed whisked by them so quickly that they were unable to identify the occupants or catch the number of the machine. Satisfied, however, that the auto contained the runaways, the officers requested Kenneth W. Ogden, who happened to be close by with his machine to aid them in the chase. The officers entered with Mr. Ogden, and proceeded to Alfred street, which thoroughfare had been taken by the fugitives and trio were soon making railroad time in the wake of the escaped men. The latter, however, had a good start, and although Mr. Ogden drove his car at the highest attainable speed, the fugitives kept far in the lead.

The machines spun north over the Washington pike, the right of way being given by everything they encountered, but despite their exertions it was impossible to narrow the space between the pursued and the pursuers. The former, when about a quarter of a mile from the Highway Bridge across the Potomac, abandoned their automobile and took to the bushes. The officers continued in the auto with Mr. Ogden and ran over a large area in that section of Alexandria county, in hopes of finding the fugitives. They were finally compelled to abandon the chase, and returning to the spot where the automobile had been left they took possession of it and yesterday it was turned over to its owners.

Earl Cronin, the eight year old son of Dennis Cronin, an engineer, was knocked down by an automobile in front of his father's residence, 1106 King street, last night at 8:30 o'clock and has his right thigh broken. Delaney, who attended the injury.

Porter was arrested by Officer Roberts and appeared in Police Court this morning. The trial was continued until tomorrow morning.

HONOR TO JOAN OF ARC.

The fete day of Joan of Arc was quietly celebrated in Paris yesterday by large crowds. A number of English women participated in the ceremonies and deposited wreaths on the monument of the heroine of Lorraine in the Rue Des Pyramides the Rue De La Chapelle, the Place St. Augustine and the Boulevard St. Marcel. English and Alsatian pastors were among the speakers at the exercises.

A group of young girls of Paris placed a bouquet on the statue in the Rue Des Pyramides, in the names of their fathers who are serving at the front. There were many British and French soldiers in the processions.

Yesterday was the first time that Protestants and civic groups have joined in the fete.

The name of Joan of Arc, who was venerated for centuries by those who see in the young woman a genuine heroine, whose patriotism brought about her cruel death, has not appealed to generations of Englishmen until our day, when conditions in Europe have made French and British bedfellows. In fact, some years ago an influential London paper attempted to make people believe that the French girl was a myth, and that no such person as Joan of Arc ever lived. That she did live, however, and put crape upon many British homes in her day is a matter of history.

Enthusiastic Frenchmen doubtless breathed prayers that another Joan would arise and aid in expelling the Germans from France as the original Joan when she led her countrymen against the British.

MAY BE BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

The present economic conditions in Germany are being met in a practical manner. Vacant lots outside and inside of Berlin and other cities in the Fatherland are being cultivated, and it is believed that plenty of potatoes and other essentials can be raised, and that all attempts on the part of the allies to starve out the Teutons are doomed to failure. The Germans are practical people, and when the war shall have ended there is reason to believe that most of the heretofore neglected land in the empire will continue to be utilized.

In crowded European countries it is necessary to till virtually all the land, and householders who have a few yards of land find it necessary to grow something in the way of potatoes, cabbage, and other standard vegetables. In America's vast domains thousands of acres of land lie idle from year to year, while the cry of advancing prices is distressing people who have it within their power to add much to their winter's supplies by working ground which they allow to grow up in weeds. There are probably enough back yards in Alexandria to furnish all the vegetables the people of the city would need, while the idle ground around the city would yield harvests for which there are always ready markets.

The ancients were wiser in their day than the present generation. They tilled interurban as well as suburban grounds, and were generally prepared for long sieges in case they became bottled up in cities. The hanging gardens of Babylon are believed to have been designed for such emergencies.

PATRIOTISM OF GERMAN-AMERICANS.

If the Kaiser has banked upon support from the many Germans who have taken up their residence in the United States during the present strained relations between the Fatherland and this country he will find his dreams illusory. Like other natives of foreign climes, they are Americans now. All they have is here, and should such a thing as war between the United States and Germany follow President Wilson's representation the adopted as well as citizens born under the Stars and Stripes will be found of one accord.

Of course, German-Americans, like most of those natives and to the manner born, indulge the hope that no such unfortunate conditions will arise, and there is much to strengthen the belief that there will be no clash of arms and that the Germans will see that the United States is merely insisting upon what is its due and only such demands as Germany would have made upon America under similar circumstances.

The delegates of the German Catholic Union of Baltimore met last night in that city. The 64 delegates, representing about 8,000 members of the organization, voiced the sentiments of the association when they adopted a resolution declaring themselves citizens of one flag and placing their confidence in the cool judgment, honest purpose and brave manhood of the President, and thus showing their loyalty to the American government in the present crisis.

If the views held by influential Germans are accepted in Berlin, it is certain that the German Government's reply to President Wilson's note about the German submarine operations will be conciliatory and persuasive in tone, and will contain several suggestions calculated, from the German point of view, to avert all danger of a break between the imperial government and the United States. The most interesting phase of the situation as it exists in Washington today is the heroic effort being made in German quarters to bring about an entirely amicable adjustment.

REVOLUTION IN PORTUGAL.

Political conditions in Europe are causing great anxiety. Holland is groaning under unsatisfactory conditions, the result of the clash of the great powers, and ominous mutterings are heard in the heretofore peaceable Netherlands. Scarcity of work and the high cost of the actual necessities of life are bringing distress upon the little nation. Notwithstanding the many positive denials of the scarcity of food in Germany, a dispatch from Berlin, published elsewhere in the Gazette, shows that provisions of all sorts have gone skyrocketing.

The uncertain attitude of Italy and the Balkan states is keeping the warring and the pacific nations in suspense. Anxiety is apparent everywhere. The result of the correspondence now going on between the United States and Germany is as yet unknown. There are speculations—only these and nothing more. The Kaiser may defy our country, and in so doing use terms to force us to defend our national honor.

The last scenes in connection with the universal unrest have been enacted in Portugal. They were not as was the case many years ago, when Lisbon was destroyed by an earthquake caused by the work of nature. At that time thousands of the inhabitants rushed to the streets, many with crucifixes which they held aloft and begged the protection of heaven. Saturday they were invoking the same throne of grace to save them from brethren who had mutinied, killed the officers and were using Portuguese men-of-war to destroy the National Capital.

But a few years have passed since an uprising took place in Portugal which ended in the murder of the King, Queen and crown prince and establishment of a republic. The revolutionists who committed the murderous acts yesterday say they want "a republic in reality," whatever they may mean by that.

"TOOTHBRUSH DAY" IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

May 23 is to be "Toothbrush Day" in the public schools of New York City. On that day the 600,000 or 700,000 young ideas that the force of instructors teach ohw to shoot will be taught how to wield the toothbrush, so as to do largest damage to the host of germs, dirt, tartar and other foes of healthful molars and incisors.

It is but logical to suppose that this new day in the school calendar will not remain an annual New York event, but that it will spread in other directions. "Blackingbrush Day" is likely to follow.

Prince Kurakine, the special Red Cross envoy at the front, telegraphs to Petrograd that after the German artillery had bombarded the station where our wounded were lying, German cavalry finished off the wounded with their carbine butts, and, after spraying petrol and benzine about, set fire to the station, which was burned down with the men inside.

Dr. Dernberg, the unofficial mouthpiece of the German government in this country, is understood to desire to return to Europe, armed with a British safe conduct for his voyage. It is an open question whether he will get it or not.

James S. Sarden, colored, 45 years old, was almost instantly killed Saturday morning while removing an automobile tire from a machine in Harrington, Del. The steel rim blew off and hit Sarden in the head with such force as to fracture his skull.

The Russian naval attaché in London announces that on May 15 the Russian Black Sea fleet destroyed 4 coal-laden steamers, two tugs and 20 sailing ships. He adds that much damage was done in the bombardment of Kefken, Ergli and Kilimali, on the Black Sea.

Advices have been received from Mytilene to the effect that furious fighting continues in the Dardanelles, and that the Turkish losses have been extremely heavy. Shells from the allied fleet are blowing up whole trenches filled with Turkish soldiers. Prisoners admit that the Turks lack munitions of various kinds.

A new method of smuggling opium into the United States was accidentally discovered by a custom's weigher at the Atlantic Transport Company's pier, in New York, Friday, when seventeen barrels labelled "Pickled Herrings," were landed from the steamship Missouri, which had arrived from London. The cans containing the drug were found in the barrels.

Without word from Ambassador Gerard as to the attitude of the German government toward the recent American note, official Washington attached much significance yesterday to the intimations in diplomatic quarters here friendly to Germany that the latter country in its reply might offer to suspend attacks without warning on merchant ships, while the United States renewed its informal proposals for the unrestricted passage of foodstuffs to civilians in Germany.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Emett S. Goodrich, aged 63 years, formerly of North Carolina, but for the past 10 years a resident of Petersburg, committed suicide Friday.

Emmett Ligon, son of Mrs. J. E. Ligon, and one of Farmville's popular young men, committed suicide by shooting himself through the temple with their carbine butts, and, after spraying petrol and benzine about, set fire to the station, which was burned down with the men inside.

Three hundred delegates of the Union of Gospel Missions were welcomed to Virginia and Norfolk yesterday by Governor Henry C. Stuart and Mayor W. R. Mayo. Bishop A. M. Randolph of the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Virginia, also spoke.

Willie Harroll, a sixteen year old boy from Danville, while asleep on the Southern Railway track a short distance below Lynchburg, was run over by a fast passenger train, and he sustained three fractures of one of his legs between his ankle and knee.

Dputy Marshall C. P. Phlegar, 25 years old, of Floyd Courthouse, died Friday night from a wound received on Shooting Creek, fifteen miles from Floyd, when he was shot by an unidentified person from ambush. Phlegar, it is said, had raided and destroyed an illicit distillery, in company with Revenue Officers Paul and Hopkins.

William J. Brockwell, white, aged 13 years, and Lester Ellis, colored, aged eighteen years, were instantly killed at the railroad crossing of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad on the belt line and the river road in Chesterfield County, just west of Ettrick, Saturday evening. The two boys were in a wagon. They were returning from Ettrick on their way home, when the wagon was struck at the crossing by a fast freight train.

Mayor Jester has approved the amended tax ordinance for Lynchburg, and the rate this year on realty for city purposes will be $1.75. The city has been forced to add the 25 cents taken from the State rate in order to make up for losses in revenue caused by the State segregation laws passed by the recent extra session of the General Assembly. With this increase the city revenues will be $50,000 less.

Miss Ellen Corbitt, 18 years old, and the daughter of a Burdette merchant, was seriously, if not fatally, burned yesterday, her clothing catching fire from the exhaust of an automobile. Miss Corbitt, with some friends, had motored to a Quaker meeting at Sedley, near Burdette. After the meeting the young ladies were grouped around the automobile waiting for it to be cranked. It was while some of the others were being assisted into the car, which was smoking badly, that Miss Corbitt's dress caught fire. The young woman was rushed to the Suffolk Hospital. The attending physicians admit that her chances to recover are small.

Government and naval officials, as well as shipping circles in Norfolk were stirred early yesterday morning by a report put in circulation that the German armored cruiser Karlsruhe had passed into the Capes and was en route to Hampton Roads.

There are rumors in shipping circles, that the Karlsruhe has not only been repeatedly seen in the Azores, but further up the coast, and that she is slowly making her way up the Atlantic, steaming far out to sea. It is believed that the Karlsruhe intends to follow the path of the Prinz Eitel and Kronprinz Wilhelm and make a dash for Hampton Roads as soon as

GERMAN'S COPPER SHORTAGE

Some months ago attention was called in these columns to the fact that copper was likely to be one of the deciding factors in the European war. This seemed somewhat improbable to many people at that time, and we have heard little of the German copper shortage for quite a while, but revelations recently made show that the prediction was not idle.

The Army and Naval Journal, in commenting on the war, states that reports go to show that German artillery ammunition is steadily deteriorating. Their shells are now coated with some composition instead of copper, with the result that they do not fit the breech as well as they should. The shells themselves are frequently made out of cast iron in place of the best steel, as formerly, and when the shells burst they do not burst effectively. Shrapnel is getting so low that, instead of the round iron balls, scrap iron, pieces of metal and even stones are being used.

The statement in the Army and Naval Journal is confirmed by recent observations, which go to show that the German artillery is now distinctly inferior to the French and British. At the outbreak of the war the German artillery was better. That it should have gone back is probably due in no small degree to inferior artillery ammunition, which puts the side using it at hopeless disadvantage in a cannonade. This was a handicap the Confederates had always to put up with, and it played a not unimportant part in the battle of Gettysburg. On the third day the Confederate ammunition poor at best, ran out during the great artillery duel preceding Pickett's charge, and the charge had to be made before the Union guns had been silenced.

It is on such things that the fate of nations sometimes depends. With the Germans hard pressed on every side and their artillery steadily growing poorer, their outlook is indeed desperate. (Richmond Times Dispatch.)

SHIP AFIRE AT SEA

Over Eight Hundred Passengers Have Narrow Escape on Liner

New York May 17—Passengers who arrived yesterday on the Norwegian American liner Kristianiafjord from Bergen brought thrilling details of the escape from a fire discovered in the hold on May 7, the day the Lusatania was torpedoed.

Mrs. Marye, the wife of the American Ambassador to Russia, was a passenger. The passengers said the ship was stopped and her lifeboats lowered to the level of the ports on the lower deck to be ready in case the ship had to be abandoned and the stewards and stewardesses went through the ship arousing the people to their cabins and assisting them to adjust life belts properly.

Captain S. C. Hjordahl and his officers and crew fought the fire for fourteen hours, until 2 p. m. on May 8, when it was finally gotten under control and the liner resumed her course for New York.

"Did you see the flames above the ship's upper deck?" Mrs. Marye was asked.

"No, I did not," the Ambassador's wife replied. "We looked over the rail and saw them shooting out of a port on the lower deck, and the strong, pungent smoke came up to the deck where we were waiting to jump into the sea."

Atlanta, May 17—Seven men, two of them white, were killed, and ten others were injured, some seriously, when a derailed car overturned on the Southern Railway near Toconga, Ga., yesterday, while a wrecking crew was clearing a freight wreck. All were employees of the road.

Railway officials here said the accident was caused by the slipping of a chain on one of the derricks which were lifting the car. The men were under the suspended load.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.
